

One of the deplorable incidents of the present riot of unreason in San Francisco is the paralysis of the Republican press there, with regard thereto. The direct possibility is that there will come an unseemly scramble by both parties to catch the favor of the surging tides who now, apparently, are strongly possessed of the power which, for the next few months, is destined to wield the political machinery of San Francisco and perhaps the State of California. There is popular demoralization enough there and elsewhere now; but if it shall come to pass that the party of high principle (which the Republican party is, if it be not, as its enemies accuse it of being, an aggregation of sports hunters) still retains a sufficient degree of integrity to assert its creed, then will its sponsors and champions stand forth, spite of all consequences, and seek to curb the prevailing tide of error, persecution and folly. Should the Republicans in their platform paint the persecutions which have been set on foot in San Francisco, then will it deserve defeat at the hands of the Democracy who will outbid it in promises and professions of wanton depredations and stunted acts of justice toward the Chinese and the solid interests of California as they should be maintained regardless of prejudice and intolerance. We are aware that it would be a difficult thing to see clear of these inflammatory issues; and, in our conviction there should be no attempt to steer clear of them. Were we a champion of, or a spokesman for, or an aspirant to high honors in, the Republican party of California, we would lose no opportunity that might present itself to stand up in a public place (whether in San Francisco or elsewhere, it would make no matter, so we could be heard) and proclaim, so that all men might hear our voice, that unless Republicanism meant justice and reason and right, come what might from the Anti-Chinese movement in San Francisco; and let the consequences be what they might to all primaries, conventions and candidacies, we would cheerfully commend it to defeat and disintegration. We would say, also, that now, if ever, were its principles to be applied; that they were no mere platitudes and framework of holiday words, but that they were created for service and action and self vindication to the hour of need. This may not be a wise nor a prudent policy—may be born of the very madness of wild impolicy itself; but it finds its germ in the absolutely right; and in all the history of its ventures, its progression and its apparent sacrifices, the Republican party and the men who have entitled themselves to a worthy renown for services rendered in its behalf, have achieved their successes and illustrated the worthiness of their mission by never flinching from the full and earnest promulgation of those principles. These precepts and examples lie in opposition to the lines which have been marked out for themselves by the howling demagogues of California, who, for the sake of a fleeting and ephemeral popularity and success are willing to join the common cry of curs which now drowns the voice of Justice in the streets of San Francisco and threatens to deprive that sparsely populated State of its most reliable class of humble toilers.

COMMENTING upon and irreligiously probing into our Ark preachments, the Reese River Reveille makes the amazing query as to whether there were any specimens of the genus hoodlum in that craft. Overhaul your Bible and dig out the history of the old Ark builder himself and you will get a satisfactory answer to your question.

ANOTHER TERRIBLE FIRE IN BOSTON.

By telegraph from Boston we learn of a very disastrous conflagration which took place there yesterday. It commenced in the Furniture Factory of Haley, Morse and Boyden, No. 411 Washington street, an immense structure, six stories in height and 200 feet in depth. Great fears were at first entertained that a repetition of the great conflagration of last year was to occur, but the flames were finally subdued. Here is the latest account:

Boston, 12 o'clock.
The fire is now under control. The following buildings on the east side of Washington street are totally destroyed: Arlington Hall, the first floor occupied by Alex. Crawford's restaurant, the upper story was a billiard hall. The Globe Theater building; all destroyed; the occupants were: Which Brothers, piano manufacturers; the Auber piano rooms; second floor, E. L. Stocum, printer; Boston Directory office; Mrs. Boyd, teacher of French; Bryant, Stratton & Co., commercial college; A. Day, artist; John E. & Co., tailors, who were burned out before in the former fire, next the Transcript building; their loss is $25,000, covered by insurance in the Boylston Manufacturers' Insurance Co.; they removed a large part of their stock to their new store now in progress of construction, No. 151 Washington street. These are the principal occupants of the Globe Theater building.

CHICKERING'S PIANO-FORTE BUILDING. Is totally destroyed. The inside was burned some time before the front walls fell in forward into the place on the south side. Nine dwelling houses were burned, valued at $4,500 each, owned by Samuel L. Greeley, Thomas S. Monahan, Charles Hayward's heirs, Sewall Allen, Samuel Allen, James Dillen's heirs, Thomas Monahan, Louis A. Roberts and Sarah H. Bowler. The following is:

A LIST OF OWNERS OF BUILDINGS. Either wholly or partially destroyed by the fire and their valuation:
Washington street, west side, Nos. 389 to 395, Seth Turner and W. C. Mardock, Trustees, $200,000; Nos. 397 to 401, owned by John Vosele, valued at $150,000; Nos. 403 to 409, James Parker, $80,000; No. 411, owned by the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, $50,000; Nos. 413 to 417, Gardner & Brewer, $25,000; Nos. 419 to 423, owned by F. B. Hayes, $25,000; Nos. 425 to 429, owned by John J. Brown, $20,000; Nos. 429 to 431, owned by Boylston's heirs, $15,000.

Washington street, east side, No. 351, Chickering's building, owned by James Paul, $80,000; No. 360, owned by Silsbee's heirs, N. J. Brantley, Trustee, $80,000; Nos. 362 to 364, Globe Theater, owned by Charles Baldwin, $55,000; Nos. 370 to 374, Arlington Hall, owned by H. Holis Hannewell, $22,000.

MURDER AT SHELBURN.—Following is a press dispatch which we clip from yesterday's Enter:

SHELBURN, May 29.
Thomas Flitcroft, a saloon keeper, was shot and dangerously wounded in the arm and side while walking through the street last night. Joseph Watts was arrested on a charge of committing the deed.

LATER.—Flitcroft died this afternoon. Previous to his death he made a statement that Watts, who is under arrest, was the person who shot him.

WE NOTICE with much satisfaction a very great improvement in the local department of the Reese River Reveille. It is one of the best of our exchanges, spicy and industriously edited.

THE CHINESE merchants in San Francisco are going to contest the constitutionality of the ordinances passed there against them, lately.

THE PENALTY for whaling one's grey haired mother in Pioche is to go to jail for 180 days.

LOST AND FOUND.—On Saturday evening last, Deputy Sheriff Carter of Lander county lost his prisoner, one Jno. Rooney, whom he was taking to Columbus for trial on a charge of horse stealing. A short distance this side of Wadsworth, the prisoner asked permission to go into the water closet, which was granted, the Sheriff keeping his eye on the door and supposing his man was secure. Some considerable time elapsing, and Rooney failing to put in an appearance, the officer began to feel uneasy, and looked into the apartment to ascertain the doings of his charge; but, lo! the closet was empty, and the open window showed that the man had jumped from the train while in full motion. Word was sent to the Deputy Sheriff at Wadsworth, Joe Allen, who started out and found his man in the hills about 12 miles to the northward of Wadsworth.—Reese Crescent.

HOT CREEK DISTRICT.—This mining district, famous in 1867-8, then boasting two mills, is now abandoned as a mining camp; but the agricultural interests thereabouts have become important. Hot Creek is thirty-five miles this side of Belmont.—Pioche Record.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF A BOY BY AN INDIAN.

An Unaccountable Occurrence.

Last night about half-past 10 o'clock as Thomas McGlew, a lad about eighteen years of age, who resides with his parents in a house near the Boston Mill was on his way home, as he was crossing from Main to South street, by the skating pond, an Indian jumped up from the bank and made a thrust at him with a knife, cutting a long slit in his coat, and also penetrating the vest over the left nipple. Young McGlew immediately grappled with the Indian, and in the struggle which ensued, they both fell, the would-be assassin fortunately at the bottom. As soon as he could disengage himself with safety, he did let go his hold and ran to his house which was but a short distance from the scene of the attempted assassination. Arriving there he immediately seized his shotgun—which was loaded with buck-shot—and going outside the door, saw the Indian standing a short distance from the house. He fired both barrels without however, hitting the savage, who immediately betook himself in the sagebrush in the direction of the Indian camp. Young McGlew is not aware that he has ever incurred the enmity of any of the Indians around here, and is entirely at a loss to account for this unprovoked attack. The probabilities are that the Indian was either drunk, or mistook McGlew for some other person. Judge Logan, who resides in that vicinity, and who usually goes past that place on his way home, is of the opinion that the attack was intended for him, as several Indians have talked pretty roughly to him about the Big Creek affair evidently laboring under the idea it is owing to his function that Carlee has not been arrested.—R. R. Reville, May 27.

In another item the Reville says that the Indians thereabout are frequently found under the influence of whisky, and demands that the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating drinks to the Indians be enforced.

MORE TROUBLE AMONG THE PIUTES.—Last evening about six o'clock, a number of Piutes were engaged playing cards in the rear of the store of W. S. Gage & Co., when one of them, who was evidently laboring under the influence of lightning whisky, picked up a rock and hit another Indian over the head with it, inflicting a wound behind the left ear that will probably prove fatal, as the skull is badly fractured. The assaulting Piute immediately took to his heels and bounded over the hills in the direction of Marshall Canyon closely followed by about a dozen of his tribe who overtook him about a mile from town and after tying his hands securely behind him brought him back and delivered him over to Sheriff Emery who locked him up in jail until this morning when he turned him loose. The wounded man is "Steve" the Piute who cleans the streets. He is a civil, industrious and apparently well disposed Indian, while the other is represented by his brethren as being a "bad Indian" and the Piutes avow their intention of checking him through to the happy hunting grounds if "Steve's" wound proves fatal. We don't know that anybody is holding them and we shall certainly interpose no objection to such a procedure.—Reville, May 27.

OF THE recent suicide at Alta City, the New Endowment of the 28th says: Information was received in this city yesterday, from Alta City, that a man by the name of George Kink administered to himself a dose of laudanum, on Monday evening, which produced his death at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The melancholy act was done while laboring under a depression of spirits, caused by hard drinking.

Since the above was in type, we have received further particulars, from which it seems that he went to the drug store and procured the laudanum, and while the clerk was preparing the label, swallowed the contents of the vial. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but all efforts to save his life were unavailing. He had just received a letter from his sister, entreating him to come home and be a better man, but he said he could not do it, and remorse appears to have driven him to the commission of the rash act. After swallowing the laudanum, he went to the store of Ralph & Street, and requested the clerk to draw up his will, by which he bequeaths his interests in the South Extension of the Miller Mine and all his real estate in Vallejo to his brother, Rev. N. B. Kink, a highly esteemed Presbyterian minister residing in Vallejo, Cal. The above facts were elicited before the Coroner's jury held by Judge Varnes.
